- Synchronizes data - automatically updates online bank accounts and third-party accounting software

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- PNC Bank., N.A. announced today additional features to Cash Flow InsightSM, a suite of online tools specifically designed to help small businesses better manage incoming and outgoing funds. The enhanced technology automates the payables and receivables processes, taking paper out of the equation when sending invoices, making payments and tracking approvals.

PNC is the first major bank to offer small businesses an advanced online solution that automatically links payment information with the business' bank account and popular accounting software. This eliminates duplicate data entry, reduces errors and provides cash forecasting in real-time.

These enhancements to Cash Flow Insight, which were developed based on the Bill.com business payment network, also allow business owners to look ahead at expected incoming and outgoing funds, informing more strategic business decisions such as hiring and purchasing.

Features include:

- Receive/make electronic payments directly in and out of business checking account
- Create and send branded invoices electronically
- View what's been paid, what is owed and create schedules to avoid late payments
- Manage and archive invoices, bills, contracts and receipts online
- Make informed decisions with view of cash on hand and projected availability

In a recent survey of small business owners across the United States, PNC found that 87 percent of them are concerned about cash flow.

"We recognize the challenges our small business customers face, finding the time and resources to effectively manage their money," said Troy Baker, deputy manager of Business Banking, PNC Bank. "With these enhancements to Cash Flow Insight, business owners can stay organized and focused, as well as manage and forecast cash flow to make strategic business decisions in one place online."

Cash Flow Insight expands upon PNC CFO: Cash Flow Optimized, and is now available in all regions with a PNC presence. The suite of tools is accessible through PNC's online business banking, and more information can be found at PNC.com/CashFlowInsight.
