PNC Bank Names Brendan McGuire Regional President For Dallas-Ft. Worth

DALLAS-FT. WORTH, Oct. 18, 2017 – PNC Bank, N. A. has appointed Brendan McGuire regional president of its Dallas-Ft. Worth (DFW) region following the retirement of Randy Wilhoit after a distinguished 30-year career, 20 of which have been spent with PNC.

> "Brendan is an accomplished leader and community advocate, with an intense focus on serving the needs of our middle market and large corporate clients in the region," said Lou Cestello, head of PNC Regional Markets."

McGuire will also continue to serve as head of PNC's DFW Corporate Banking team, a role he has had for the last year. Prior to relocating to the DFW area, he served out of PNC's Atlanta market, where he was primarily focused on technology, communications and fintech companies in the middle market and corporate finance segments. In that effort, McGuire led key syndicated and institutional transactions that were instrumental in propelling PNC's success in the Southeast. He is deeply engaged in the Dallas arts community and currently serves on the development committee at the Dallas Museum of Art.

"Brendan is an accomplished leader and community advocate, with an intense focus on serving the needs of our middle market and large corporate clients in the region," said Lou Cestello, head of PNC Regional Markets. "We are confident he will continue to build upon our DFW expansion efforts as we work to deliver PNC's Main Street model of localized decision making and community engagement."
