

Preserving Affordable Housing For Families/Seniors Focus of New $100 Million Fund

PNC Bank boosts preservation efforts, targeting affordable “at risk” rental properties nationwide

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17, 2016 – PNC Bank, N.A, announced today the closing of the PNC Affordable Rental Housing Preservation Fund 1, LLC, (PNC Fund 1), a $100 million fund to be used to preserve affordable rental housing for families and seniors. PNC Fund 1 is one of the first and largest institutionally-managed funds offered for real estate investors committed to preserving affordable rental housing in the United States.

Through the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Program (LIHTC) of 1986, low- to moderate-income families and seniors have benefitted from affordable rental housing located in neighborhoods nationwide. As a growing number of tax credit properties reach the end of their 15-year tax credit compliance period, the buildings are showing signs of wear, the existing debt is coming due and the original investors may need to exit the partnership.

“The continued availability of affordable rental housing for families and seniors is at risk across the country as a wave of affordable properties are now being sold to owners with little or no interest in maintaining these properties at affordable rents beyond the current contractual period. As these properties are sold, they are at risk of eventual conversion to market rents,” said John Nunnery, senior vice president and manager of Preservation Investments for PNC.

The new PNC Fund 1 will be used to acquire affordable properties at the end of their 15 year LIHTC compliance period as well as other at-risk affordable rental housing. These properties will be held for a period of time and then sold with the intent of recapitalization with new Low-Income Housing Tax Credits, extending the contractual affordability period for another 30 years while delivering financial benefits to participating investors.

“The new fund is an expansion of PNC’s ongoing efforts to ensure affordable housing is available to families around the country through the tax credit capital program. PNC is positioned to recapitalize and preserve the affordability of at-risk projects while providing an attractive risk-adjusted return to our investors,” said Todd Crow, executive vice president and manager of Tax Credit Capital at PNC.

PNC Fund 1 is PNC’s first multi-investor preservation fund, has seven institutional investors, including PNC Bank, N.A., and will be managed by PNC Real Estate.

Originally part of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, the LIHTC program leveraged investor equity, from the private sector to support the development of new and rehabilitated affordable rental housing. The LIHTC program has generated more than 2 million affordable housing units since its inception in 1986.

PNC Bank, N.A., has a comprehensive platform that combines LIHTC equity financing with affordable housing debt solutions to deliver a seamless financing package for the construction or redevelopment of affordable housing. As of Dec. 31, 2015, PNC had nearly $9 billion in affordable housing equity capital raised for LIHTC funds and PNC Fund 1.
