

Reds, PNC Bank Extend Longstanding Partnership

CINCINNATI, April 18, 2016 — The Cincinnati Reds and PNC Bank, N.A. today announced a multi-year extension of the partnership that has established PNC as the official bank of the Reds.

The agreement designates PNC Bank as the exclusive and official bank, financial advisor, trust and mortgage banker, investment management and brokerage service provider of the Cincinnati Reds through 2022. This extension is a continuation of previous partnerships dating back to 2000.

“We truly value our relationship with PNC and their strong presence in the community, said Phil Castellini, Reds chief operating officer. “Together, we will continue to connect with our fans and their customers across Reds Country.”

“At our heart, we are Cincinnati’s Main Street bank supporting and growing the community we serve. With this partnership, the Reds and PNC will work together creating connections with new fans and businesses while taking care of our loyal fans and customers,” said Kay Geiger, PNC regional president for Greater Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky. “Our shared goals are to enhance the customer experience of both organizations and foster economic development through increased fan participation.”

Beginning with the 2016 season, fans will experience both new and continued aspects of the PNC and Reds relationship both in Great American Ball Park and throughout Reds Country.
